COMEDY AND COMICS—CREATIVE APPROACHES BREAK NEW GROUND IN THE BATTLE AGAINST VIOLENT EXTREMISM

Together with our partners, UN Women takes bold action in preventing violent extremism with positive messages such as through comedy and comics. Recognizing the value of public-private and media partnerships, a panel discussion themed: “Comedy and Comics - Fighting Extremism One Laugh at a Time” was held on 26 September in Bangkok, Thailand. Miwa Kato,

Regional Director led the discussion with panelists which included Aaron Haroon, the creator of the ground-breaking animation Burka Avenger from Pakistan; Priyank Mather, the producer of I Want to Quit ISIS YouTube video from India; and Yenny Wahid, Director of Wahid Institute from Indonesia, on how the media can open the discussion on fighting extremism. The event was co-hosted by UN Women, the United Nations Council Counter-Terrorism Committee Executive Directorate, with support from Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Japan... Read more ► can print and distribute 10 manuals for teachers to prevent violence against women and girls in Armenia.

$100

can train 17 women's rights activists to engage men and boys as change agents in the Middle East.

can train 70 police officers to offer better support to women survivors of violence in India.

Globally, a staggering 1 in every 3 women has experienced physical or sexual violence in their lifetime. Yet violence is not inevitable. It can be prevented. However, resources for initiatives to prevent and end violence against women and girls are severely lacking. We are trying to change this. With your help, the UN Trust Fund to End Violence Against Women and UN Women can build a culture of non-violence and support women survivors of violence worldwide. Every little bit helps!
