Challenges

• Compliance with learning mindset to advance on GEWE agenda
• Link between GEM exercise and analysis for reporting (i.e. Annual UNCT Report)
• Risk to inflate scoring ('the higher the better')
• Capacity on UNCT GEM application and gender mainstreaming overall (including technical backstopping of UNCT GEM application)
• Strong senior leadership is required (RC; UNWOMEN representative)
• Available financial resource to accompany the agencies (funding for a consultant)
• The role of GTG in UNCT GEM application is crucial
• Important collaboration between DMEL and GTG groups.
Promote RCO’s leadership and coordination role, emphasizing its critical function in UNCT GEM application and gender equality prioritization within UNSDCF.

Uphold commitment and advocate UNCT GEM application with the Heads of Agencies, emphasizing the importance of senior leadership support and collective efforts for effective implementation. Led by RCO/RC in UNCT meetings and other occasions with HoAs.

RCO has promoted dialogue as a central aspect of UNCT GEM application, fostering discussions and self-assessment among various stakeholders, including GTG, DMEL, RGs.

Integrate a Results-Based Management (RBM) approach by considering UNCT GEM as an accountability tool for achieving actual GEWE results and aligning it with the results chain in the JWP and Cooperation Framework.

Apply UNCT GEM at the design stage of programs, ensuring gender analysis, planned GEWE results, gender-sensitive indicators, data disaggregation, and other gender considerations are integrated from the beginning.

Complement UNCT GEM across UN entity-specific monitoring, evaluation, and reporting systems, exploring opportunities for integrating GEM-related processes into reporting, M&E practices at both JWP and program levels.
