On 15 December, the first edition of the UN Women Asia-Pacific Women’s Empowerment Principles (WEPs) Awards was celebrated at a high-level ceremony in Bangkok. Eighteen finalists were announced as regional winners after a four-month long competitive selection process with more than 400 qualifying applications from 17 countries. These outstanding companies and individuals included large multinationals to SMEs and financial services organizations that have made an impact on gender equality despite the pandemic. The national chapters of the WEPs Awards ceremonies were held in the Philippines, China, Indonesia, Viet Nam and India between November 11 to December 1.
